

Jeff Lee

- Licensed Arabian Judge 1984 – current
- Judged numerous US Nationals, Youth Nationals, Canadian Nationals
- Judged regional championships in 7 different regions

Jeff Lee wears a cowboy hat not because it is fashionable but because he is truly a cowboy and a horseman. He credits his early mentors in the training barn like Mo Morris, Bruce Gilchrist, Jerry Blake and Tony Amaral for giving him the insight and knowledge to pick the right horses when he judges.

In over 35 years of adjudicating, he has had the honor to judge the US Nationals, Scottsdale Arabian, Canadian Nationals, Youth & Mid-Summer Nationals, and AHA Snaffle Bit Futurities, all of them multiple times.

Jeff's story is truly a horseman's tale. He has raised his family and made a good life working along with his wife of 46 years, Melody, training horses, coaching youth and amateur riders, showing Arabian horses, and judging Arabian horse shows.

Most of all Jeff credits his success in judging and life to Melody. Someone once said, “Sometimes the shortest distance between two points is a winding path walked arm and arm.” It seems like they started out yesterday, but they reached this point with her love and devotion. For Jeff this honor is not his award, it is their award.
